... from Mr. Moore's Desk

Greetings Parents & Scholars:

Can you believe it? Can you believe it? We are in December already with three weeks left to go before Winter Break.

Parents with that being said, we cannot afford to let up off of the academic gas pedal. We must continue to work as a team and enforce that our scholars understand that they must read, do i-Ready and study. It is how we are going to see increased gains and proficiency on the state mandated assessment, but even more important than that it will increase comprehension and knowledge in reading.

Honestly, I really would like to call a mandatory parent night to discuss progress in the category of reading and how we can all get to the goal line together. Parents it takes us all and perhaps I am tough, but please believe that it is with the interest of pushing our scholars to success. I assure you that I am not in the business of giving bad grades, which is why I may overly communicate.

Again, thank you for entrusting me to help make a difference in the lives your children!

Mr. Moore

Weekly Learning Standard

This week we will be changing standards and working primarily on the following standard:

LAFS.5RI.1.2 Quote accurately from the text when explaining what the text says explicitly and when drawing inferences from the text.

Aggieland Notes

Communication Reminders:

Parents, I may call an emergency parent meeting for next week. I will let you know by Wednesday.

Incentive Reward Request

I am asking that each child bring in a bag or two of candy, chips, individual cookies and/or fruit snacks for our classroom reward containers which are given out as incentive for when the scholar goes above and beyond.

I will be asking at the onset of every nine weeks.

Reading Stamina Information

Having stamina for something means being able to stick with something for periods of time. This stamina, or endurance, builds strength. Stamina can apply to lots of different areas, such as exercise or painting. It can also apply to reading. Teachers often think about a student's reading stamina. Reading stamina is a child's ability to focus and read independently for long periods of time without being distracted or without distracting others. Reading stamina is something that parents can help students develop. As your child moves further into the year, developing reading stamina will help your child navigate the longer texts and assignments. Please enforce that your child reads daily for a minimum of 30 -45 minutes, Monday thru Sunday.
