Meetings, Parents & Scholars:
Leadership online c

I pray that your three day weekend was great! Welcome back everyone.

These past few weeks have been full of rigorous lessons, both in whole group and small group. We have been concentrating on vocabulary and you will begin to see a lot affix work coming home. Please review the affixes with our scholars as it will go a long way to recognizing unknown words when they have prefixes.

This week will be focusing on comparison contrast. They are in for a treat. Official school progress reports go home this week and I wish to thank those of you who spoke to our babies about their progress on my report as it has worked wonders and many grades went up due to studying and getting on i-Ready!!!!

The scholars will be going on The World of Nations Field Trip this Friday so be sure to send them with their fee and any additional monies needed for souvenirs.

Again as always, I thank each of you for entrusting your scholar to me and it will pay off come April/May and beyond.

Have a blessed week!!!

Mr. Moore

Reading Stamina Information

Having stamina for something means being able to stick with something for periods of time. This stamina, or endurance, builds strength. Stamina can apply to lots of different areas, such as exercise or painting. It can also apply to reading. Teachers often think about a student's reading stamina. Reading stamina is a child's ability to focus and read independently for long periods of time without being distracted or without distracting others. Reading stamina is something that parents can help students develop. As your child moves further into the year, developing reading stamina will help your child navigate the longer texts and assignments. Please enforce that your child reads daily for a minimum of 30 -45 minutes, Monday thru Sunday.

Williams Word

Parents,

I hope you all had a wonderful long weekend with your scholars!

I am looking forward to another great week with each of them. We will be focusing on comparing and contrasting this week for our FSA focus lessons. The scholars have been doing really well with these lessons.

I have been continuously impressed with their participation our small group lessons and center rotations. I love seeing them engaged in their learning and enjoying doing so! They make me so proud and bring me so much joy!!

This is a short week due to no school on Monday and World of Nations field trip on Friday. However, we will be working hard during our time together!!

I hope you all have a great week!!

Sincerely,

Ms. Williams
